MOOD:  happy

MUSIC: T grading papers, with associated profanity

Now that I can feel my tongue again, I have reached a conclusion.

Sample size was too small. I believe we need a retest.

There needs to be a Coyote/Rabbit cornbread bakeoff, and associated Coyote/Cowboy chili cookoff, as a monthly event. Because monthly is all my stomach lining and the world supply of jalapenos can handle, but we have got to do that again.

Or at least until we get this settled once and for all.*

Memo to me, more sour cream next time. And more bheer. Ow.

*Hopefully, sometime in 2037.

Thank you

This is Patricia Andreoli, wife of Daphne Worth, who you all knew as Trollcatz. Daphne died

...And there goes the weekend

But hey, we got a day and a half of this one! And I got to sleep in for two whole mornings. Too bad

COLLAPSE

Awww, it wasn't that hot.

Well, okay, not by Texas standards.

But he actually made me kind of jealous. That was chipotle beef stew, whether he called it that or not. He cooks pretty good for a guy who keeps his knives loose in a drawer. >8>

People keep surprising you.

Hey, it's dawn! Shouldn't I be seeing the dulcet flash of the Blue Beetle's lights coming down the la-- oh, there you are.

By the time your phone beeps with this comment, I will be in the passenger seat. That will be funny.

(wooo! wall!)

Flaming Chili Apocalypse once a month--that's a niiiiice idea.

While you loons celebrated this profoundly significant religious holiday by freezing your asses off and struggling up large bodies of granite with no actual destination at the top, I went for dim sum.

Thank god for Taoists and Buddhists, sez I.

If you can talk Texas into it, I'm game.

Maybe I'll even try a real red chili con carne next time. Just to show him how it's done.
